"SCERTS Implementation Training; Using the SCERTS assessment process to design educational programming for children with Autism Spectrum Disorder"

Course Description

This course will provide specific guidelines for administering the SCERTS Assessment Process (SAP), a curriculum-based assessment designed to pinpoint those areas of development that support a child's social and communicative competence. This assessment tool facilitates the implementation of the SCERTS model, a comprehensive, multidisciplinary educational approach designed for children with Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD). The SAP is an ongoing assessment process designed: 1) to establish a child's profile of developmental strengths and needs, 2) to determine meaningful, purposeful, and motivating educational goals based on a child's profile and functional needs, 3) to select the most appropriate learning contacts and teaching strategies, 4) to determine the necessary transactional support (interpersonal support, learning support, support to families), and 5) to monitor progress over time.

Using video case studies of children with ASD, the presenter will outline the steps for administering the SAP within that child's natural routines at school, at home and in the community. The course will illustrate a multidisciplinary team approach for scoring the assessment, how to use the results to determine meaningful educational objectives, and how to use the results to identify learning supports that will be considered essential accommodations in a child's educational and therapeutic programming. Lastly, the course will illustrate how the SAP can be used for program planning and ongoing data collection.
